

Sinclair stations airing an "anti Kerry" piece titled Stolen Honor should not air the program on public airwaves on the basis this is a violation of current federal election law. With the election near and being so close why not let the voters decide without airing a partisan program designed to destroy the reputation of Kerry's Vietnam war record? Wouldn't it have been better to have aired the piece months ago giving Kerry and supporters time to refute the charges made? This is not the time to play loose with Democracy and the freedoms we enjoy in this country.

Stephen Groh